Finding Joy in Learning: Environments that promote Curiosity

In Person and Zoom

September 18, 2025 / 4:30-6:00 pm

UMass Chan Medical School -HIATT AUDITORIUM S1-608

Join us for our Educational Grand Rounds with David Hatem, MD, Professor Emeritus of Medicine, for his discussion on finding joy in learning, environments that promote curiosity.

Learning involves engaging with uncertainty, while medical education frequently emphasizes evaluation and achievement. The Education Grand Rounds will examine methods for establishing environments that support learners' existing knowledge, foster curiosity, and promote continuous learning.

About the Academy: The UMass Chan Health Education Academy for Leadership and Learning promotes the success of our educational program through the deliberate development of an interprofessional cadre of educational leaders skilled in a scholarly approach to teaching and learning and to foster the development of a professional identity as educators.
